Dear Dr. Demarteau:

Marcel

The HEP office received your application entitled, "Development of Cost-Effective Crystals with Dual-Readout for Homogeneous Hadron Calorimetry," in response to The Collider Detector Research and Development Program (DE-FOA-0000438 or DOE National Laboratory Announcement LAB 11-438). As described in the funding announcements, each application was subjected to merit review process. Based in part on the scientific and technical evaluations provided by independent experts, as well as programmatic priority judgments, we have decided to fund your application.

Enclosed for your information are copies of the reviewer comments, which we hope you will find useful.

Best wishes for continued success in your research efforts.

Sincerely,

Glen Crawford
Director, Research and Technology Division
Office of High Energy Physics
